LEARNING FROM FILMSTRIPS is one of the most popular features of Head Start classes, now in progress at O. J. Thomas School. The eight-week program is aimed at preparing youngsters for first grade and has 72 students enrolled this summer.

Texas is not the only state having special sessions and budget concerns.

A contest of wills between Gov. Ronald Reagan and former California Speaker Jesse Unruh brought passage of a $6.3 billion budget to halt.

And Ohio, another industrial state, faces the new fiscal year there without a budget.

110-119-110

Texas legislators face a late July special session to renew efforts for a budget in Texas after Gov. Smith vetoed the one-year outline passed by Texas Senate and House.

It is said he is thinking of a state income tax, which he emphatically points out from previous statements is not so.

His position is that a two-year budget is the constitutional way to finance Texas government. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher worked out a one-year proposal without new taxes.

Gov. Smith vetoed on the basis that taxes would be necessary for both years of the biennium and that no tax provision the first year would force taxation programs in the second to pay for both.

Crux of the Governor's position is on the many-attended Texas Constitution which requires biennial budgeting, in strict interpretation, but which is due for major overhaul to be of the latter 24th Century.

The polls show Governor Smith doing quite well in public opinion. His veto, somewhat unpopular now, may be calculated second year to show strong leadership in facing the state's needs now, not in special session. It is said a special session was inevitable, with or without budgetary veto.

Governor Connally emphasized during his tenure that annual sessions, which would produce annual budgets, have merit in the complex government of modern Texas. He also urged rewriting of the Texas Constitution, amend-SEE 110 Page 3

New Office Opens On Courthouse Sq.

Attorneys Robert Ellett and Emory C. Camp have moved the law offices of Camp and Ellett into their newly completed building at 116 E. 1st St. The antique brick, one-story building is the first addition to the courthouse square since the 1930's.

Vaulted ceilings, rough-sawn cedar walls, brick trim and a center skylight are interior features. The building has four offices, reception room, storage room and library.

Architect was Stanley G. Watson of Dallas. Contractor was Cotfield Construction Co., Rockdale, and landscaping was by Kahler Co., Cameron.

New World Opens For 72

Good things are happening at Head Start.

A whole new world of learning is opening for the 72 children enrolled in the fourth year of summer classes now in progress at O. J. Thomas School.

A classroom is not something to fear, a doctor is a nice man; a tall patrolman is friendly; that huge truck can be inspected closely; and strange grownups soon become objects of love and affection. These discoveries, made before most children are six years old, are brand new to many of the youngsters.

Forty-two of the children, six years old, will begin school in the fall, and the Head Start program is preparing them for the new experiences and some of the disciplines they will meet in first grade.

The five-year olds share their older classmates' enthusiasm for the daily schedule of pre-school activities.

A remedial first grade class of 13 students also meets at OJT each day, receiving concentrated help on the "three r's" in order to be ready for second grade work.

Mrs. Gloria Perkins, doubling as Head Start director and nurse, said classes are unconventional in that each room contains four groups of children who may be engaged in different activities at the same time. Or the entire group joins together for games or filmstrips.

Music, arts and crafts, reading preparation, science, and play make up the daily program outlined by Head Start guidelines. The program is funded through Title I and Head Start funds.

"There is a reason behind everything we do," explained Mrs. Perkins. The varied experiences during the eight weeks make classrooms enjoyable, not "something to fear," she added.

Young minds and senses are expanded by books. "Feeling books" are used that provide a chance for the youngsters to feel textures and learn what words like "soft, rough," mean. For many of the children this is their first contact with books. The material is not presented with the statement, "it is this way." Rather, questions are asked, "what, how, why and when?"

Rhythm games teach coordination and one of the most popular games is "dress up," where high heels and grown-up clothes are used in make-believe weddings, going to church, and other social events. Head Start workers use these periods of play to study the children and learn about them. The program includes a complete physical examination by local physicians, dental exams, and hearing and vision tests.

"We have found fewer overall problems this year than in the past," Mrs. Perkins said. The three previous years' Head Start programs have made parents more aware of elements necessary to children's health, she said.

LAUNCH COMPLEX 39 . . .

'Dead Weight' Lifts Apollo 11

A STAFF REPORT
(One Of A Series)

CAPE KENNEDY

The official designation is Launch Complex 39.

It is more than dead weight concrete pad and towers, where umbilical lines disengage at the moment of "ignition" and 7.5 million pounds of lift flame out from beneath the Apollo 11.

Complex is a good word. In this instance it means the gigantic Vehicle Assembly Building, third largest in cubic interior space in the world, a Launch Control Center of several stories, mobile launchers, crawler-transporters, concrete based launch sites and a "crawlerway" which must be one of the world's deepest-based roads.

Its cross section tells the story of the weight of six-million-pound crawler bearing the 364-foot Apollo Saturn V and its 10.6-million-pound mobile launcher.

The crawlerway goes from the Vehicle Assembly Building (VAB) to the launch sites, of which there are at least two, stretching over a 50-foot-wide lanes separated by a 50-foot divider. Width from side to side is 130, about the width of an eight-lane highway.

The 3.5-mile crawlerway was excavated of regular surface and sub-surface material before the roadway fill was brought in. It goes to two launch sites and to auxiliary stations.

Special fill and selected materials, a top of crushed limestone rock was covered with asphalt and covered with gravel, creating a roadbed about seven feet thick.

This compaction combination is enough to withstand the enormous pressures, experts comparing that load to the weight of 40 jetties landing at one time.

Temperatures Up Water Use Doubles

Cameron's downtown temperatures climbed over the 100 mark again this week with official temperatures hovering just below 100 degrees for the last 7 days. The high temperatures caused water use to more than double with 1,664,000 gallons of water pumped out on July 1. Water use averaged 600,000 gallons a day in June 1968.

Recorded official temperatures for the past week were:

New Plant, New Plans City, CIF Get OK On Grant, Loans

COUNCIL OK's NEW MACHINE, REVIEWS WORK

The City Council voted to buy a new landfill machine and discussed progress of street work and water-sewer extensions at Tuesday's regular meeting.

A downtown parking ordinance received a second reading and a streets improvement ordinance was read.

Two bids on the crawler-tractor were opened with Darr Equipment Co. low bidder at $32,225. A $32,169 bid was offered by Brown-Ferris Co. The straight-blade, power shift machine will be used for the City's sanitary landfill which will replace the City dump.

Decision was made by Councilmen to add two blocks on West 6th Street to the scheduled paving around O. J. Thomas School. North Karnes Avenue property owners petitioned the Council for paving of that street.

Fred Bandas of Temple was awarded the contract for asphalt paving of the Cameron Airpark tiedown on his low bid of 70 cents per square foot.

New Building To Double Jobs

Continued growth for Cameron was assured Tuesday with simultaneous announcement of a $65,000 Small Business Administration loan for construction of a dress factory and a $12,572 grant for comprehensive city planning.

Cong. W. R. Poage announced approval in Washington of both the loan and grant.

The SBA loan was made to Cameron Industrial Foundation for construction of a $100,000 building to house the Hensley-Russell Inc. dress plant.

Narvie Coperton, president of the Cameron Industrial Foundation, said Citizens National Bank and First National Bank will loan an additional $40,000 each and Cameron Industrial Foundation's portion of the loan will be $13,000. 15,000 SQUARE FEET

The air conditioned 15,000 sq. ft. plant will be occupied by Hensley-Russell on a lease-purchase agreement. The dress plant, with about 60 employees, is temporarily operating at Cameron Air Park Charles Wichersham, plant manager, said they expected to increase the number of employees to 150 as soon as the new facility is completed.

Site for the new plant is a five-acre tract of land owned by the Cameron Industrial Foundation in the industrial area north of Cameron. Coperton said an invitation for construction bids will be advertised in the near future.

The city planning grant, approved by Secretary Romney, director of Housing and Urban Development, will finance comprehensive planning for the growth and development of Cameron. The government grant will be matched by $6,436 in local funds.

Mayor E. A. Perrin said the grant would finance a review of the entire city, residential and commercial as well as industrial, and make recommendations for future urban renewal projects.

CITY GIRLS FOR HOLIDAY MOTORCIDE

Highway and city patrolmen reminded motorists this week to drive with extra caution during the 4th of July holiday weekend when 34 persons are expected to die in traffic accidents in Texas.

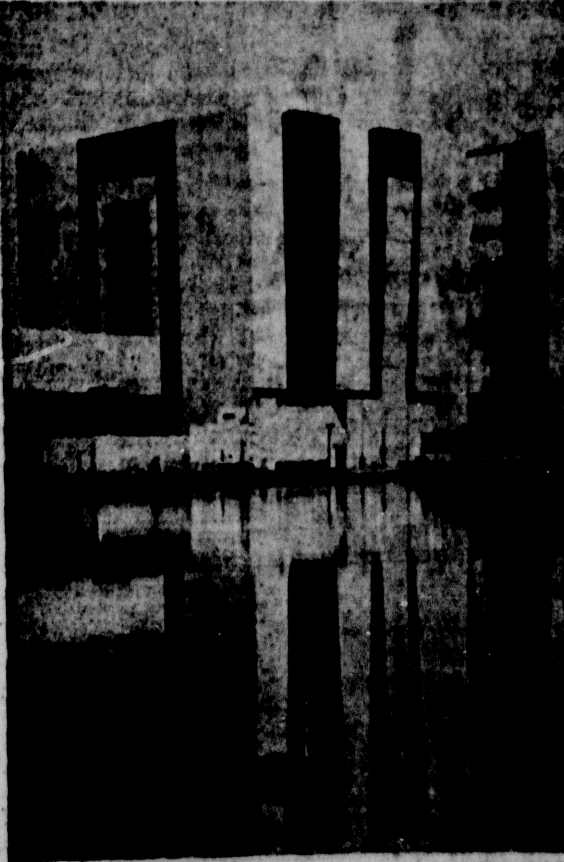

Texas Highway Department urged motorists to note construction areas and take extra care when driving through them. Grading and surfacing work is in progress on SH 36 near the Sumnerville Dam and between Milano and Caldwell. Traffic is being rerouted through construction. Surfacing work is still in progress on US 77 and SH 36 between Cameron and Rockdale.

Cameron Boy Scout Troop 52 will advise motorists to pause for a safety rest at City Park where they will have tents, canopy, coffee, soft drinks and cookies.

Felix Matula, Scout Master, said donations of coffee, sugar, cookies or cash were still needed. Donations so far have been: $15 from the Chamber of Commerce, 200 bags of potato chips and 300 cups from Dean Trubey, Martine distributor, and Colton.

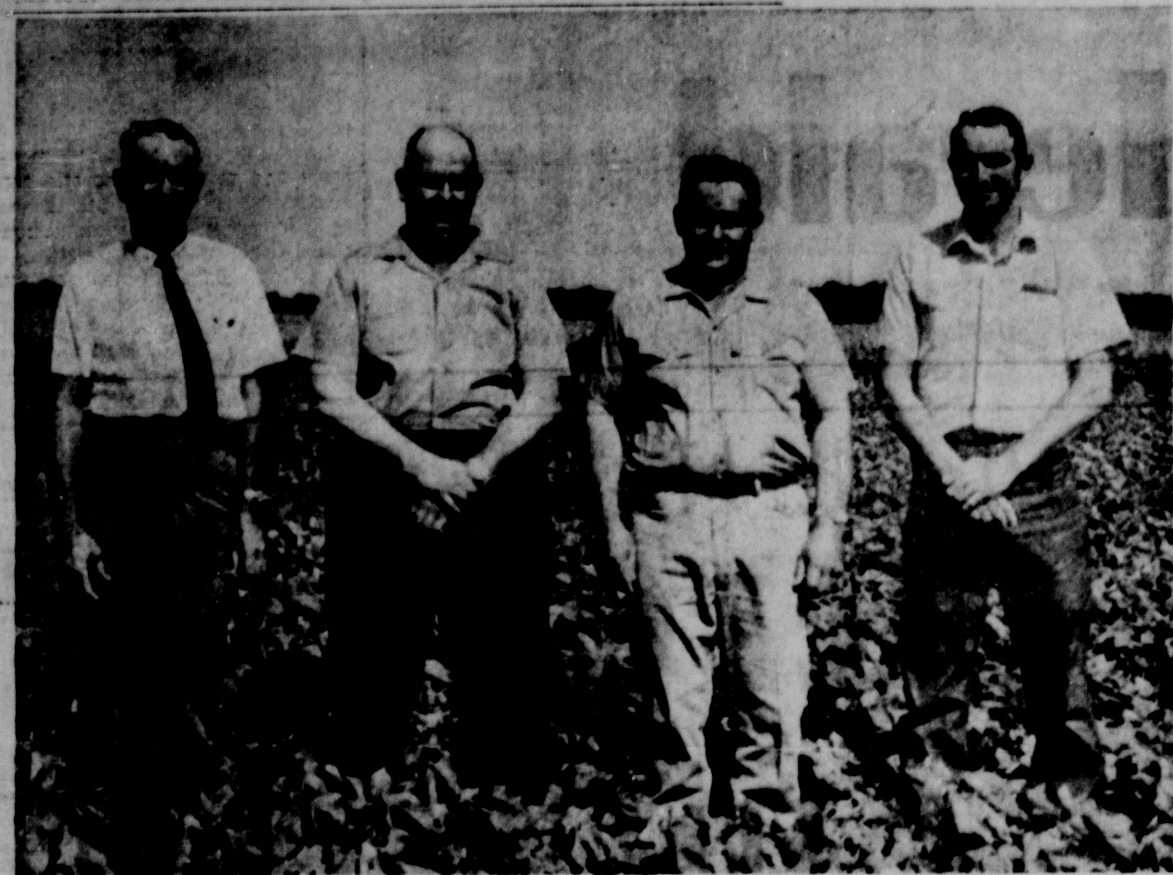

INSIDE THE VAB — The massive business end of a Saturn V suspends on crane within the Vehicle Assembly Building, part of Complex 39 where the Apollo 11 moonshot launches July 16. The VAB is about 3.5 miles from the launch sites of the Complex.

VEHICLE ASSEMBLY BUILDING — An Apollo 11 Saturn V rocket emerges with mobile launcher from the 550-foot Vehicle Assembly Building, third largest in the world in cubic feet. It is carried by the enormous transporter.

TRANSPORTER — The crawler-transporter which bears the six-million pound Apollo 11 to Complex 39 is fueled by a gasoline truck, showing size of the computer-controlled tracked vehicle.

Area Water Rights Association Announces New Name, Leaders

New officers were elected and a new name was chosen for the Ben-Milam Land and Water Rights Association at a recent meeting. The two year old organization was formerly called the Leon, Lampasas, and Little River Irrigation Steering Committee.

Wilburn Beckhusen, Buckholts farmer and ginner, was elected chairman. Other officers include A. J. Hall, Killeen, first vice chairman; Erwin Fuessel, Thordale, second vice chairman; Reeves

Brown, Cameron, secretary; and John Davis, Cameron, treasurer.

Purposes of the Ben-Milam Land and Water Rights Association, according to Beckhusen, are:

"To serve as a legislative watchdog for all matters affecting riparian land owners in Bell and Milam counties; make every effort to inform all parties about the 1967 Adjudication Act; vigorously oppose the construction of a dam on the Little River near Cameron; serve as a spokesman for land owners of bottom lands in the two counties; work toward further development of these rich river valleys by supporting and actively pursuing research on the irrigation potential of these bottom lands."

"With the advent of the Texas Water Development Plan," Beckhusen said, "people all over Texas are becoming increasingly 'water conscious.' With each session of the Texas Legislature, matters come up that definitely affect our land and water rights. It has become an absolute necessity for riparian land owners to organize into an association for the protection of our vested interests."

Membership in the association is open to anyone who owns or operates a farm in the river bottoms of Bell and Milam Counties. Information may be obtained from Beckhusen or any of the officers or directors.

The Board of Directors includes: Wayne Caffey of Sharp, Calvin Cobb of Cameron, Dr. E. D. Cook of Temple, Nelson Hander of Belton, Donny Heine of San Gabriel, Sidney Kacir of Temple, Hugo Linke of San Gabriel, Gene Linn of Rogers, Ed Senkel of Buckholts, and Joe Zajicek of Rogers.

Teen Dance Nets $210 For Hospital

Saturday night's benefit dance for St. Edward Hospital added $210 to the hospital's development fund drive. The dance was termed "a big success" by attending teenagers.

A surprise gift of colorful shirts and vests was made to the Spine Culture, local teenage group who played for the dance. The shirts were made by Sisters at St. Edward Hospital and hospital Auxiliary members.

Spokesmen for the dance committee expressed appreciation to all who helped make the affair a success, including area business firms and volunteer sponsors and helpers.

No. 1 On Aug. 5 Ballot . . .

'Clean-Up' Amendment

On August 5, Texas voters will be asked to accept or reject nine amendments to the Texas Constitution. This is the one area of legislation in which State citizens may take part directly.

The Texas Legislative Council prepares analyses of proposed amendments to assist voters in making informed judgments, and The Herald will print, in the coming weeks, the Council's analyses.

AMENDMENT NO. 1-HJR No. 3
The proposed amendment repeals those sections of the Texas Constitution which, after careful study, have been determined to be obsolete, superfluous, and unnecessary. The basis for this determination is the Texas Legislative Council's report to the 57th Legislature which contained an exhaustive study of the Texas Constitution and recommended changes.

The proposed amendment also provides that the enumerated sections be repealed with the specific understanding that the repeal shall not in any way make any substantive changes in the present constitution. Therefore, in terms of legal effect, the repeal of any section is effective only to the extent that it effects no substantive change in the present Texas Constitution.

BACKGROUND
The following language, appearing on page 5 of Volume 1 of the Texas Legislative Council's report, is illustrative of the general type of constitutional provision repealed by the proposed amendment:

There are some provisions in the Constitution which, inserted for good reason in 1876, appear now fully to have served their original purposes and to have become obsolete or superfluous. Of them it may correctly be said that they are no longer dynamic and do not today actively and affirmatively reflect the governmental philosophy of the people. But, it should also be noted, this is so only because they no longer actually do anything at all—good or bad.

There are several recognized grounds upon which a specific constitutional provision may be determined to be obsolete. While space does not warrant discussion of each such provision repealed by the proposed amendment, several examples of the specific types of obsolete provisions will be illustrative:

1. Obsolescence due to exhaustion of subject matter.

The subject matter may no longer exist. Such appears, for example, to be the case of Section 6 of Article XIV, providing for homestead donations out of the otherwise unallocated public domain. This provision became obsolete some time prior to 1898 upon exhaustion of lands subject to such donation. Other examples: Section 60 of Article XVI, authorizing the legislature to make appropriation for the 1936 Centennial; Section 55 of Article XVI, authorizing pensions to veterans of the revolution against Mexico.

2. Obsolescence due to action taken pursuant to provision.

Obsolescence may result from action taken pursuant to a provision, for example: Section 7 of Article XVI, appropriating three million acres of the public domain for erection of the Capitol.

3. Provisions in conflict with United States Constitution.
Sections of the Texas Constitution which are in conflict with the Constitution of the United States are invalid and inoperative. For example, Section 7 of Article VII provides that separate but equal schools shall be provided for white and colored children. This section has been invalid since 1964, when the United States Supreme Court ruled that the "separate but equal" arrangement was violative of the 14th amendment of the United States Constitution.

4. Unnecessary "police power" provisions.

A "police power" type provision may be defined as one which directs (or permits) the legislature to enact legislation which, by its effect on the activity of individuals and their use of their property, is deemed to contribute indirectly toward advancement of, or, at least, prevention of injury to some recognized public interest.

When this type of legislation is enacted by the legislature without specific constitutional authority it is frequently spoken of as being enacted in exercise of the state's "police power." Specific constitutional authority for this type of legislation appears to be but a specific expression of the general police power. These provisions are unnecessary, however, because it is well recognized that the police power is inherent in a government and may be exercised through a state's law-making agency independently of any constitutional grant of authority. Examples of this type of constitutional provision are: Article XVI, Section 29, directing the legislature to pass laws against forgery of land titles; and Article III, Section 46, directing the legislature to enact vagrancy laws.

New superhighways dramatically reduce driving time between European capitals. Motorists can go all the way from Vienna through Germany to Amsterdam—a distance of 800 miles—in 15 hours.

ARGUMENTS

The proposed amendment is a mere "clean-up" measure which makes no substantive change in the Texas Constitution; therefore, it would appear that the presentation of pro and con arguments relating to each of the 52 obsolete provisions is not justified for the purposes of this analysis.

Governor Smith, who served early and gained Democratic nomination in a field of ten a year ago, favors continued change, not complete rewriting.

LA-Gov. Barnes' view of budgeting and constitution is apparently more in agreement with the Connally view, which is supported by positions in both major parties favoring constitutional revision.

The whole question of state finance and constitution is being tested. A modern industrial state, which Texas is, and a modern agricultural state, which Texas is also must, respond more quickly to needs, whether spending or economies. The only real parallel is California which is in a budget crisis.

By vetoing, Gov. Smith maintained his constitutional position and exercised leadership for, in effect, "pay as you go" both years of the biennium.

LA-Gov. Barnes and Speaker Mutscher, in effect, said "no new taxes" this year, acknowledging a restive spirit of taxpayers at federal, state or local level. The Legislative halls are usually more responsive to the day-to-day pulse of constituents.

But recent polls show Smith carrying 57 percent of Texas public opinion. So he exercised his views in the vetoes of the budget proposal and numerous other legislation. Some approved without his signature.

The special session later this month will test the judgments of these Texas leaders, though not in the same atmosphere of confrontation which California leadership exercises.

Texas, California and Ohio are one in this era of heavy industrial expansion, and apparently three in dealing with growth's problems.

PARENTS HELP

Increasing interest by parents is shown by their participation on the advisory committee, which is made up of five community workers and five parents. Mrs. Perkins said all parents are encouraged to visit the school and work with teachers. Mothers have accompanied classes on field trips and sat with children awaiting dental exams.

A general outline of the Head Start program was presented to parents at the first of several meetings held during the eight weeks. Menus using commodity foods were presented by the County Home Demonstration Agent at the second meeting, with 28 mothers attending. A health program will report medical conditions; civic responsibility will be the topic of another, and a general progress report will highlight the final program.

Community helpers were introduced to the children by visiting from a DPS highway patrolman, the City fire truck, and a TP&L bucket truck.

The Head Start staff includes teachers, Mrs. Lois Gunn, Mrs. Mineola Currey, Mrs. Carrie Milligan (remedial class), Odell Biggs, and Jack Ruzicka. Samuel Knight, Wayne Kelley, Marvin Young, and Sharon Lucko are teachers aides.

Six high school girls also serve as aides and are employed through the Neighborhood Youth Corps. Griss Wells drives the school bus, transporting students from Branchville and taking the children on field trips.

A morning snack and a hot lunch at noon are prepared by cooks, Dorothy Colbert and Annie Terrell. Several local teenagers serve as volunteer aides.

Mrs. Perkins said that 97 applications had been received for Head Start, all except 12 from eligible children. Allocated funds provided for enrollment of 72 children.

New Plant, More Planning . . .

We note that financing has been concluded for construction of a dress factory in Cameron's Industrial Park and further funding for comprehensive city planning.

The former will allow construction on a new plant for Hensley-Russell, Inc., while the latter will allow continuing study of city development which, incidentally, is not to be confused with urban renewal planning, now complete, for the downtown area.

What with the groundbreaking of a new hospital this month, Cameron is indeed progressing.

Vienna's Temple Of Art

The Vienna State Opera House, as we know it, was opened 100 years ago. It has always been more than a mere theatre to the people of Vienna; what happens in it is as much worship as it is aesthetic enjoyment or musical experience, so that sometimes it has been, like so many holy places, a battleground where the pious have defended orthodoxy from the irreverence of heretical composers, conductors and directors. Vienna prides itself upon its love of easy-going, cheerful comfort, but Gemutlichkeit is a quality to be abandoned whenever musical values are endangered.

The Viennese opera-goer's devotion to music as life's necessary pleasure on the level of the cheerful delights and easy sentiment of waltzes and operettas extends to an almost religious reverence for great music. Therefore, in a war-shattered city, the rebuilding of the State Opera House, destroyed in 1945, was as urgent a task as the rebuilding of railway stations and even houses. In many cities, rebuilding after the war might have served as an opportunity for creating a new, excitingly unfamiliar home for opera; in Vienna, it was essential that a beloved holy place be restored to its former state; improvements, of course, could be admitted, but only so long as nothing seemed to change.

People who are amused by such conservatism or who see it as a refusal to move with the times are missing the point. The conservatism extends to the repertoire, which (although it keeps in continuous circulation a very large number of productions) admits only what can be accepted without argument as fitting company to the world's greatest operas. There are places, the Viennese opera-goers believe, where artistic experiment is right and proper; a high temple of art is not one of them.

Its conservatism is based on the work of men who, whether they were Viennese or not, have been imbued with the Viennese sense of the sanctity of great music and the special occasions should be celebrated not by some newly composed and therefore questionable work but with the jubilant solemnities of Fido.

That is why the centenary of the Vienna Staatsoper is not simply a local celebration. From Mozart to Schoenberg and Webern what has happened in Vienna has been central to the world's experience of music, and the Vienna Opera is a pantheon to which Purcell, Verdi, Mussorgsky, and Debussy, for example, are admitted. Its celebrations are occasions for the entire musical world and its centenary an event on which all music-lovers can rejoice.

Special Session Called To Write Spending Bill

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN—Dusty old tax bills are being pulled out for discussion now that Gov. Preston Smith has vetoed the one-year spending bill and called the Legislature back into special session.

Governor Smith made it clear that he expects the special session to adopt spending proposals for a full two years starting Sept. 1, and to levy new taxes to finance whatever is spent.

Tax bills must originate in the House and Speaker Gus Mutscher says he believes the money can be found without raising the state sales tax. But, first he wants to hear what the Governor has to propose as a source for the money.

Smith has indicated that he will recommend a program substantially different from what he suggested last winter. But he said he will not propose a state income tax.

So far, legislative leaders have not shown any intention of passing another one-year spending bill and then going home without levying new taxes. Smith's contention that the tax bill will be smaller if it is passed now instead of waiting until 1970, apparently won some state-wide support.

Smith has one ace up his sleeve. He vetoed a big stack of Senate bills because they were not properly passed and sent to him by adjournment of the legislative session. He said that he will allow the special session to consider re-passage of those bills, after the legislature passes the two-year appropriation bill.

Only the Governor can select the subjects to be considered in a special session. So authors of the bills he vetoed may be anxious to help put over his program in order to try to pass their bills again.

Among the vetoed bills, and one of wide interest, is that by Sen. Murray Watson of Mart creating 27 new district courts.

Here is what Governor Smith will ask the legislators to do: Enact a budget in the neighborhood of $5.6 billion for the 1970-71 fiscal period.

Levy a balancing tax bill, which he estimates at around $300 million or slightly less.

If there is time in a 30-day special session, then take up the bills he vetoed because they were not signed in the presence of the legislators.

There has been some speculation that lawmakers may just hand Smith another one-year budget and see what he does. However, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Mutscher pledged cooperation in supporting a biennial appropriations pattern this time.

Tax bill remains the big question, and nobody seems to have any clear idea where we go from here.

WELFARE CHANGES NOTED. Major changes are going into effect in state welfare policies and organizational structure.

Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney announced elimination of the one-year residency requirement for all aid categories. This is in keeping with a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision and federal rules. Hackney predicted the change will not noticeably increase welfare rolls in Texas, but the nationwide increase in assistance costs is estimated at nearly $300 million a year.

Department of Public Welfare also realigned its statewide organization on the basis of regions, effective July 1. Department will merge Child Welfare services with the Aid to Families With Dependent Children program under a single administrative head along regional lines.

VETS LAND RATE UP

Interest rates are going up to eight percent for non-veterans who take over contracts to buy land under the Texas Veterans Land Program. Board ordered the increase from six and a half percent.

Veterans are not affected by the new rate. Their new loan contracts bear five and one-half percent interest. Non-veterans enter the picture when veterans sell their land or transfer the contract which they can do after three years.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler sees the money market as a "serious threat" to the entire land program unless the constitutional amendment is adopted, August 5, to remove the current four and a half percent ceiling on interest rates on bonds sold for the veterans land fund. Bonds cannot be sold in the future unless the rate is raised, Sadler said.

COURTS SPEAK

He spoke as chief election officer of the state, responsible for maintaining uniformity in application and interpretation of Texas election laws.

Dusek To Head Steering Group For Lions Effort

Plans for the August campaign to detect diabetics in Cameron continue with the formation of a steering committee headed by Bernay Dusek.

The campaign, sponsored by the Lions Club, launches an effort to find diabetics who are unaware of their condition. The program is endorsed by the Milam County Medical Association.

Serving on the committee with Dusek are Dr. S. H. Richardson, Rev. J. E. Lafferty, and Edward Schiller.

The Diabetes Detection Campaign is a modern-day parallel to drives held in former years to stamp out infectious diseases, such as diphtheria, typhoid, polio, and measles.

Part of the Campaign will be the setting up of several Centers where the public will be urged to go for free, painless tests that can, in a minute, indicate whether or not diabetes is present.

There are four million diabetics in the United States, according to the U. S. Public Health Service. Half of these two million don't know they have the disorder. With their diabetes undetected and uncontrolled, these people are open to the various and sometimes dread complications of diabetes, such as blindness and heart disease. Detected and treated, the danger of diabetes is lessened.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

Five cars drove past my mailbox on the road near this Johnson grass farm yesterday morning in a span of two minutes and I walked down to see what was causing all the heavy traffic and while I didn't find out, any more than I've ever been able to figure out where all the cars are going bumper to bumper seven days a week on a regular highway. I did find a newspaper some passenger had thrown out.

In it I found an article that reported that a big bridge built four years ago to allow traffic to go around Manhattan - which certainly is a good idea, I've never seen a city yet I hadn't rather go around than through - last year handled 29 million cars, trucks and buses. Faced with such a mess of cars, the city decided to solve the problem by adding a second deck.

The second deck will now enable the bridge to carry 48 million cars a year, after which, when that proves inadequate, I don't know what they'll do.

It is hard for me to imagine 48 million cars passing by one spot every year - can you imagine that many going past The Herald office? - and the problem is increased when you realize half are going in one direction, half in the other. If they were all going in the same direction, you could maybe hope to see the end of the procession some day, but like it is, they aren't getting anywhere. The thing could go on forever. Every time you add another deck, you invite another 29 million cars.

I have a theory on solving this. What we ought to do is to stop trying to keep a highway or bridge from becoming obsolete. Like it is now, one end of a new highway is obsolete before the other end is finished, and this drives people to widen or double-deck the first section, then the get is approved by Congress for proposed bloc grants under the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. Bulk of the funds will go to help local agencies. This five-year federally-funded program seeks to bring together efforts of law enforcement, last section just in time to start over on the first section.

The entire policy should be reversed. Where we made our mistake was, when we found dirt roads were obsolete, rushing in and building gravelled roads. When they became obsolete, we rushed in and built paved roads, then four lanes, then six, then eight.

Anybody should have seen that the more roads we built the more cars we invited, since highways attract cars like sugar does ants.

If we really want to stop the traffic jam-ups we'll stop building highways.

If this is not perfectly clear to you, I'll come into Cameron and explain it further if you'll get somebody to fill up a chug-hole in the road going by my house. Actually it's too narrow too for safe driving.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Payroll Withholding Rates Are Unchanged

On Friday, June 27, Congress passed and sent to the President legislation extending through July 31 present withholding rates including the 10 percent income tax surcharge.

The nation's 4 1/2 million employers, therefore, need make no change in tax withholding rates on their payrolls. R. L. Phinney, District Director for Southern Texas, said today.

Employers should continue to use the withholding rates tables in Circular E, "Employer's Tax Guide," which was mailed to them last January.

It takes between 300 and 400 pounds of paint to cover the new jumbo passenger jets, although the coating measures only about three-thousandths of an inch thick.

courts, correctional institutions and rehabilitation services to reduce crime.

"This marks a new and constructive era in relations between the states, the federal government and the cities," Governor Smith commented.

Little League Gets 'Hot' . . .

Yanks Move Out Front

Cameron Little League Yankees have moved out in front in the race for the pennant, but the title is still open to competitors and no team has clinched first place.

Yankee starters N. E. Barron and Gene Smitherman coached the Yankees to a win over the Colts to break the first place tie between the two teams. Another win against the Indians gave them a record of 7 wins and 2 losses.

The Indians came up to their usual style in playing the Yankees and gave them all they wanted Monday. It was a 10-10 ballgame at the end of regular play. In the 7th inning the Yankees came through with the winning run.

The Colts held second place with a 5-3 record while the Cardinals have a 4-4 record, Indians a 4-4 record and the Bears 1-8 record.

The Yankees will be putting their record on the line Thursday when they meet Johnny Springer's Cardinals in the final round of play. There is no game scheduled for July 4. Monday the Bears play the Colts and Tuesday the Cardinals and Indians meet.

BEARS - CARDINALS
The Cardinals came through with 2 big home runs Tuesday night but the Bears were hitting the leather and in extra innings outscored the Cardinals 11-10 for their first big win of the season.

It was 3-3 in the second inning with Edwin Marek, pitcher Gene Goeke and Scott Mitchan scoring for the Cardinals and pitcher Kenneth Scott, catcher Brian Wilkerson and Carl Burnett coming in for the Bears. The Bears moved further ahead in the 3rd when Mark Fritz, Mark Harwell and Bebbie Zavodny came in on Burnett's triple. Goeke picked up one for the Cardinals in the 3rd and he and Scott Mitchan stole home in the 4th. But the Bears added 4 big runs in the 4th with Fritz, Harwell, Zavodny and Burnett crossing home plate.

Right fielder Ronnie Bennett hit a home run in the top of the 5th and Ibra Henry knocked a home run in the 6th for the Cardinals. Joe Mondrik scored and Allan Jones stole home on a missed ball to catcher to tie the score.

In the extra inning, Bobby Zavodny got on base with a single and Burnett hit a triple knocking Zavodny in for the winning run. Burnett was credited with 3 triples during the game.

Kenneth Scott was winning pitcher for the Bears. Harwell and Burnett also saw action on the mound and Brian Wilkerson was behind the plate.

Gary Heitman was on the mound for the Cardinals until the 4th inning when Gene Goeke took over. Ricky Hollas was behind the plate.

YANKES - COLTS
Home runs were the order of the day last Friday when the Yankees broke the tie for the first place lead and took the Colts 14-3.

Yankee pitcher Jeff Smitherman hit a clean homerun and rounded the bases on another hit for two of his three scores of the game. Catcher Gene Kopriva knocked a home run the pitch before Smitherman nailed his first one. The back to back homeruns gave the Yankees a 2-0 lead in the second inning.

Colt pitcher Randy Sapp knocked a home run for the fourth one of the ball game. Mark Michaels, who took over pitching duties in 5th, scored one run for the Colts and Gary Heitman the other.

Forrest Sapp's Colts were held scoreless until the 4th inning when they picked up one run and two more in the 5th. It was 6-0 with the Yankees picking up 3 more in the 4th and 5 in the 5th.

Sharing the scoring limelight for the Yankees were Joe and Jeff Smitherman and Gene Kopriva with 3 runs each. Jesus White scored two runs and Mike White, Izzy Sanchez, and Bruce Zarosky 1 run.

INDIANS - BEARS
Burtie Schumates Indians outscored the Bears 13-7 last Thursday for their fourth win of the season.

It was spectators ballgame with the Bears tying it in the 4th with a 7-7 score. But the Indians rallied in the 5th and picked up 5 more scores, a margin Nathan Lewis's Bears couldn't overcome.

The Indians took the lead in the first inning with 3 runs and the Bears trailed by 1. Both teams picked up 3 more in the second while the Indians got 1 in the 4th and the Bears picked up 3 runs.

Nehemias Rangel was on the mound for the Indians and Mike Mueck was behind the plate.

Dale Mueck lead the scoring for the Indians with 3 runs. Philip McCall and Mike Mueck scored 2 each and Al Matula, Dennis Hollas, Thomas Mikulec, Allan Fox and Bill Hughes scored 1 run each.

Carl Burnett was on the mound for the Bears and Brian Wilkerson was catcher. Gary Tryd scored 2 runs for the Bears and Kenneth Scott, Bobby Zavodny, Carl Burnett, Mark Fritz and Roy Tindell 1 run each. Zavodny was credited with a triple in the first inning.

Patterns and material for Pep Squad uniforms have arrived at Penney's. Shells have not arrived and members will be notified when they do, secretary Catherine McNulty said.

If four structures the size of the 1,472-foot Empire State Building were stacked on the floor of the Grand Canyon, only the television tower on the top one would poke above the North Rim.

The Lions took the lead in the first inning of Thursday night's Minor League game with the first six players making scores. Another run in the second inning by Lion pitcher Jimmy Horton gave the Lions 7.

Cameron 'C' Nips Thorndale

Cameron C Pony League team notched their 6th victory Monday when they nipped Thorndale 3-0. The team, which was created when the two Cameron teams had too many players, has a 6-0 record for the season.

They have beaten Buckholts 5-1; Buckholts 2-0; Cameron B team 5-4 and Thorndale. They fell to Rockdale last Wednesday 7-4 and lost their first contest with Thorndale 11-5.

Cameron C team carries the best loss record of the six teams in the league. However, since the team was formed after the mid-July were made, they have had to play games when they could not have played as many games as the other teams.

Monday night game at Thorndale field was a crowd pleaser featuring some fine defensive plays and some clutch pitching by Ernie Delarosa.

Cameron jumped out to an early lead scoring 2 in the first inning as short stop Pat Sheguit and third baseman Craig Friemel crossed the plate.

Thorndale wasted little time getting their scoring started marking 1 in the first and another in the second to tie the score.

With the bases loaded in the 3rd inning, and 3 outs, catcher Norman Truitt hit to right field knocking in first baseman Mike Zajack for the 3rd run but Rocky Sapp got cut down at home late on a fine throw by the center-fielder.

Although this was enough to win the game, Cameron managed another score in the 7th when Sheguit came in for his second run of the game.

Cameron fans had some anxious moments in the 7th inning when pitcher Delarosa loaded the bases, with one out. However, he bore down and struck out the side to wrap up the victory.

Mentor Dale Hedges will test his team against the Cameron A team in their first contest Saturday at Little League field. The game was scheduled for early June but was called due to bad weather.

Tuesday night the Cameron A team defeated Buckholts 9-1 with Joe Vaulin on the mound for Cameron. Chester Buchanan and Mike Young shared catching duties.

CAMPER — Kathryn Kahler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kahler, Cameron, posts a letter home from Heart O' the Hills girls camp in Kerrville. Kathryn returns home this weekend following a month of water sports, horse - back riding, handicrafts and drama at the Hill Country camp.

Bill Asks Permanent Status For Farm Programs, Food Stamp Act

Legislation making permanent the existing farm programs and the food stamp act has been introduced by Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, of the House Committee on Agriculture.

The measure combines the existing Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 and the Food Stamp Act of 1964, which are now scheduled to expire on December 31, 1970.

Dealer Suspended By USDA For Violating Bonding Regulations

Arnold Young of Groesbeck has been suspended as a registered livestock dealer for violating bonding regulations under the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

He buys livestock in east-central Texas.

USDA Judicial officer Thomas J. Flavin ordered Young suspended as a registrant starting June 29, 1969, until he complies with bonding regulations.

Young was also ordered to cease and desist from doing business subject to the P&S Act without filing an acceptable bond or its equivalent.

P&S Act requires livestock dealers to provide bonds as a measure of financial protection to sellers.

The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat.

It contains an "open end" provision as to the amount of money to be authorized for food stamps, leaving the amount to be determined annually in regular appropriations legislation.

"Obviously, the production and the distribution of food is closely related and should be considered at the same time", said Poage.

"I announced hearings on both general farm legislation and food stamps some days ago and specifically pointed out at that time that the two items would be considered together.

"These hearings have been scheduled to begin on the fifteenth of July, which, in view of the July 4th recess of the Congress, is about as early as it would be possible to start.

"We have invited the Secretary of Agriculture to open the hearings and I have introduced legislation to extend both the farm program and the food stamp program, and to remove all of the ceiling on appropriations for food stamps."

The Chairman said the Committee would not only hear from those supporting his bill, but also from those backing the Senate-passed food stamp measure and other proposed amendments.

Shortcourse Set For Dairymen

Scores of dairymen from 61 counties have signed to attend an area Dairy Shortcourse, July 10 in Fort Worth, where the main theme of 11 speakers will be "the kind of management that nets more dollars from the business of dairying."

The program each day begins at 10 and ends at 3, in the Roundup Inn.

Among the speakers will be Louis P. Longo of Glastonbury, Conn., where he manages his herd of 272 registered Holsteins that, for each of the past three years, have averaged 17,442 pounds of milk and 649 pounds of butter fat per cow.

(Nationwide average for the Holstein breed in 1966-67 was 12,775 pounds of milk per cow in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association.)

Sponsors of the shortcourse are the North Texas Division of Milk Producers Ins. (MPI) and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University. Coordinator is Thomas H. White of Denton, Extension area dairy specialist.

County Agent's Notes . . .

Extreme Heat Can Hurt Crops

By J.D. Moore

Extremes in Texas weather conditions are most hazardous to farmer's dryland crops. Current weather patterns are no exception.

Cotton is, by its nature of growth, a dry weather plant. The county cotton crop has made favorable progress during the past 30 days. However, a good rain would help all crops, including pasture grasses and hay crops.

Even though we have a relatively small acreage of corn as compared to other crops, corn seems to have shown less stress from the heat than did maize. This we cannot explain since both crops are shallow rooted.

Farmers in Milam county usually make as much or more net from cotton during dry years. This is due possibly to two reasons. First, high temperatures discourage cotton insect infestations and secondly, farmers just don't spend as much money on a dry weather cotton crop.

Some maize crops are good, some fair and some are just plain sorry. Because of irregular "headling" many of the good fields will be handicapped. Looks like the crop may be 1-3 to 1/2 off normal yields.

FRUIT TREES

If our people expect to have fruit and nut trees, some attention will have to be paid to cultural practices. First, fruit trees are shallow rooted. The leaves show stress by first wilting, some turn yellow, and drop off and in extreme conditions limbs and even the entire tree dies.

A good hay mulch offers good protection by insulating the soil around the root zone from the extreme heat.

The county agent used one bale of partially decomposed coastal hay to mulch three mature peach trees. The bale of hay was left out in the weather all winter. The hay mulch 8 inches deep was placed around and under the limb spread of the peach trees on about May 1.

A recommended spray program was followed and a good fruit harvest will start the last week in June. Even though the trees showed no sign of wilting or stress, they received one light application of water on June 20.

Roadrunner Joins Protected Birds

Roadrunners can breathe a sigh while sparrows and grackles will continue to dodge destruction after September 1.

That's when recent legislation goes into effect shortening the list of unprotected birds in Texas.

The roadrunner, along with vultures or buzzards, "harmful" ricebirds, goshawks, Cooper's hawk or blue darter, sharpshinned hawk, jaybird, sapsucker, woodpecker, butcherbird or shrike, great horned owl, and starling were once on the unprotected list.

Now, only "English sparrows, grackles, ravens, red-winged blackbirds, cowbirds, and crows" remain on the unprotected list, though grackles are protected by Federal law.

Although owls, hawks, and eagles of all types are now protected under the amendment a provision has been made so that, "Nothing in this Act shall prevent a person from defending and protecting his domestic animals from predators."

Texas protects its birds through three general laws which classify birds either as game, non-game, or unprotected varieties.

The world's largest flying bird is the wandering albatross, with a wing spread of about 11 1/2 feet.

Cotton Insecticide Resistance Is Major Problem, Says Entomologist

Possibly the greatest problem facing cotton farmers today is insect resistance to insecticides, according to John G. Thomas, Extension Service entomologist at Texas A&M University.

At least 10 species of insects and mites, he says, have developed resistance to one or more organic insecticides since the early 1950's.

Of these pests, resistance of the bollworm and tobacco budworm is the most serious. The budworm has been tough to control with chlorinated hydrocarbon chemicals since about 1960, and the bollworm also has come up with the high resistance to most of the formerly effective compounds.

"Present indications of organophosphate resistance in the tobacco budworm are particularly disturbing," Thomas said.

Some of the problem can be traced to destruction of beneficial parasites and predators through unnecessary insecticide applications, he added. These natural control factors should be protected and encouraged as long as possible during the bollworm-budworm season.

Thomas emphasized that insecticide applications should be based on infestation counts and damage to squares and small bolls. When as many as 5 percent of the squares and small bolls show damage, apply insecticides to stop excessive yield losses.

When a chemical is applied, beneficial insect populations are sharply reduced. Further protection from damage will depend almost entirely on additional insecticide applications at intervals dictated by population counts.

"The grower should recognize, in most instances, that a minimum of three to five applications may be required to bring the infestation under control. If his potential yield is not sufficient to justify this expense, then he probably should never make the first application. A single application may merely aggravate the situation and be of little benefit," Thomas said.

ASCS

By Alva E. Sanders

Crop acreages are now certified, and producers should bear in mind the need for compliance with the conserving base established for their farms.

The conserving base represents devoted to conserving uses on the farm in addition to any acreage required to be diverted under applicable program provisions.

This means that if someone is participating in the wheat, feed grain or cotton program on his farm he must stay within his permitted acreage (the cotton allotment, the wheat allotment or feed grain base minus the signed intentions to divert acreage within such allotment or base), in addition to maintaining the farm conserving base.

If he does not, he may lose all or a substantial part of the program benefits to which he would otherwise be entitled.

Responsibility for making certain that the conserving base requirement is met falls primarily on the farm operator, however, each producer on the farm has a vital interest in this matter because his benefits are reduced proportionately if total benefits for the farm are reduced.

A Closer Walk With God Will Lead You Right Straight to Church

Nearly two centuries ago in the fateful course of human events Liberty was born. With justifiable pride we declared our Independence... Liberty and the rights of all men. The spiritual aspect of the proposition of freedom, equality and justice for all was fundamental in the development of these new ideas. Liberty loving fathers, possessed of unyielding faith and vital religious convictions supplied the genius. Before a government could be founded on the brotherhood of man... there had to be the Fatherhood of God. Then let us preserve this freedom through eternal vigilance, unceasing prayer and unfailing faith. Independence!!!... the Fourth of July. Let us ever remember the source of our freedom... The Book.
